1. Schiffbauarbeiten

- a. The Schiffbauarbeiten remain the first priority in VEB Schiffswerft Neptun Rostock.
- b. Ship [] was launched on 2 September 1955. Her completion date is November 1955, although it is doubtful that the yard will finish in time.
- c. No degassing gear is fitted.
- d. There is no indication that any armament is to be fitted; the decks are not especially reinforced at any point.
- e. Frames are approximately 76 cm. apart, the same as the standard freighters.
- f. The vessels are of welded construction.
- g. The hull is approximately 10 mm. thick over-all, it has no special reinforcement at any point.
- h. No stabilizers are fitted.
- i. All doors throughout the ship are watertight with rubber seals and a small glass scuttle in the center. Each door has four clips. The doors do not yet bear any damage control markings.
- j. Ships [] have two boilers each, which are equipped for automatic coal stoking. Ship [] will be oil burning.
- k. Main engines are now being fitted in ship []
- l. In hold number 2 are fitted five 400 hp diesel engines, each of which is coupled to a generator which in turn is coupled to an air compressor with an approximate capacity of 150 atmospheres. Seven air bottles are fitted in this compartment but one is used only for starting the diesels (see Appendix A).
- m. Holds 1 and 3 contain large stowage for compressed air tanks, numbers and dimensions unknown.
- n. 350 bunks are to be fitted. All cabins are double.
- o. There is no difference in design or layout of the bridge positions of the normal freighter and the Schiffbauarbeiten. All living accommodations are equipped with scuttles.

25X12. KUBAN

- a. The name KYBAH is painted on the bows.
- b. The ship is now lying in Rostock Harbor. From 30 August until 8 September, she carried out sea trials in the Baltic with German technicians on board.
This trial was used to familiarize the Russian engineers with the equipment.
On her return to Rostock on 8 September, only minor adjustments were necessary.
At 0600 on 30 September, the KUBAN sailed once more down river for a short 24 hour trial with only Russian personnel on board, she returned to Rostock on 1 October. The date for finally leaving Rostock is unknown, but it is expected to be within two weeks of 2 October 1955.
- c. The present ships company joined the ship direct from Leningrad and were never accommodated in the barracks at Rostock. Before the main group boarded the ship, there was a pre-commissioning party of about 25 enlisted men who were accommodated in the Uhlmen Kaserne; they were employed on miscellaneous duties, sentries, etc.
